The renovation of the park in Centelles focuses on sustainability and the circular economy through the incorporation of playground equipment and urban furniture made from recycled materials, improving the quality and functionality of the public space.
A 100 m² ReBnew area has been installed, a predefined solution by BENITO, equipped with four play elements designed to provide safety, durability, and high play value. The set includes the Nido swing, the LAR seesaw, the Reb01 multi-play unit, and the Reb06 modular play structure. All elements comply with EN 1176 standards and are manufactured using materials such as ReBnew, HDPE, galvanized steel, and stainless steel, ensuring resistance, maintenance-free use, and long service life.
The REB play line is entirely conceived under eco-design principles and open playability, encouraging free, inclusive, and creative play.
The intervention is completed with the installation of Citizen ECO benches and chairs, providing adults with comfortable and accessible resting areas. The result is a renewed, inclusive, and environmentally respectful park designed for the shared enjoyment of children and adults alike.

The new ReBnew Park in Logroño, La Rioja, is an oasis of fun and environmental awareness created by BENITO. This avant-garde space features a unique combination of modular games, with pier, seesaw, and swing, all made with high-quality recycled plastic.
This Park has become a reference point for families seeking enriching and environmentally respectful experiences. Each element of the park is designed to stimulate children's imagination and motor development while conveying an important message about the importance of recycling and sustainability.
BENITO has once again demonstrated its commitment to sustainable urban design by creating the ReBnew Park in Logroño. This initiative not only provides entertainment for all ages but also serves as a visual reminder of the importance of adopting environmentally friendly practices in all our daily activities.
