In Saval Park, located in the town of Valdivia, Chile, a new Pump Track by Benito Urban has been installed. This 53-meter-long circuit was installed on a concrete base in a grassy area, ensuring its stability and durability.
The Pump Track is a recreational circuit designed for sports such as cycling, skateboarding, skates, and scooters. Thanks to its dynamic and diverse shapes, it offers endless combinations that adapt to children, young people, and adults. Additionally, it stands out for its versatility, as it can be installed in both indoor and outdoor spaces.
This circuit is not only easy to assemble but also requires zero maintenance and is easy to clean and sanitize, making it an ideal installation for promoting sports and leisure in a natural environment.
