Le Brasilia (France)

Le Brasilia campsite has installed rustic urban furniture made of wood and corten steel, along with St-André barriers, enhancing both safety and the natural surroundings' visual appeal.

Yelloh! Village Le Brasilia campsite, located in Canet-en-Roussillon, has enhanced its outdoor spaces with the installation of new urban furniture. The campsite has opted for a rustic and natural style that blends harmoniously with its surroundings. To achieve this, they have combined Gavarres benches with Tor benches and Tor litter bins, all made from treated pine wood and corten steel – a combination that fits beautifully into the site's green areas.
In addition, to improve safety at the campsite entrance, a fence composed of St-André barriers in a mars brown finish has been installed. These barriers not only separate pedestrian and vehicle areas, but have also been decorated with planters on top, adding a floral and aesthetic touch to the main entrance. A clear commitment to functional design and landscape integration in a privileged natural environment.

In the city of Tallinn, Estonia, the Priisle park was inaugurated as a modern, multifunctional space designed to promote community life and outdoor well-being. This urban park features a wide range of facilities that make it attractive for all ages. Among its elements are the Gavarres benches, accompanied by their stools, offering a comfortable resting place for families and groups of friends. They are located next to the playground and skatepark, encouraging social interaction in a natural and welcoming environment.
Priisle has become a key meeting point in the neighborhood, reflecting Tallinn's commitment to creating sustainable, inclusive, and functional public spaces, where design and comfort come together to improve citizens' quality of life.

The Gavarres collection, with corten steel plate feet and pine wood planks treated with autoclave, fits exceptionally well into the TILDRI urbanization project in Tallinn, Estonia. Designed to withstand harsh weather conditions and requiring minimal maintenance, it is perfect for natural environments. Strategically distributed throughout the central park of TILDRI, the collection provides comfortable resting areas and litter bins to keep the environment clean and organized, thereby enhancing the experience of residents and visitors.
This urban furniture not only aesthetically complements Tallinn's urban landscape but also promotes a sustainable, high-quality outdoor lifestyle. With its combination of durable materials and functional design, the Gavarres collection reflects TILDRI's commitment to innovation and environmental harmony, creating spaces that not only endure over time but also enrich community life.

Installation of Gavarres benches, tables and bins, ideal for rural environments thanks to the use of wood and Corten steel.

Elements of BENITO's Gavarres street furniture range have been installed in a park located in the French Alp region.

Products of this collection are a very good option for rural and mountain environments as they have a rather rustic aspect due to the materials they are made of: wood and Corten steel.

In both cases, they are living materials, which means their appearance will evolve over time. However, these changes don't affect their resistance or durability.

The urban furniture from the Gavarres collection is characterized by its pine wood planks treated with autoclave and corten steel structures. This combination not only offers an aesthetic and contemporary design but is also ideal for adding a more natural and warm touch to urban spaces.

Furthermore, its weather resistance ensures durability and minimal maintenance, making it a practical and sustainable option for public areas in the city.
