The renovated Camí del Calvari in Ibiza, inaugurated following a €2.5 million investment, enhances access to Dalt Vila with Benito urban furniture: Quatro chairs and Mar beacons.

The Camí del Calvari in Ibiza has been officially inaugurated following the completion of its refurbishment, an emblematic project involving an investment of €2.5 million to improve one of the most important historic access routes to the walled enclosure of Dalt Vila. The intervention, financed through the Sustainable Tourism Tax (ITS), the Island Council, and the Regional Government, has transformed this roadway into a more accessible, welcoming, and attractive promenade for both residents and visitors, with particular attention to pedestrian mobility and integration with the heritage surroundings.

As part of this renovation, Benito Urban installed chairs from the Quatro collection, providing comfortable resting points along the route, as well as Mar beacons incorporating a functional and aesthetic lighting system adapted to the urban and tourist character of the promenade. These elements of urban furniture enhance the user experience, reinforcing comfort and functionality while maintaining harmony with the historic landscape.

The opening of this section represents a clear improvement in Ibiza's urban quality, facilitating access to the city's cultural and urban heritage and supporting a sustainable and high-quality tourism model.

The MAR beacons in Marson color enhance pedestrian safety with a robust and versatile design, offering soft lighting that blends into both urban and rural environments.

In the town of Masquefa, just a few minutes from Barcelona, Benito Urban has carried out a project focused on pedestrian safety and comfort. To achieve this, MAR beacons in Marson color have been installed—an efficient and aesthetic solution for pedestrian lighting.
These beacons stand out for their great versatility, as they adapt perfectly to both urban environments and rural paths, blending naturally into any landscape. Their new design is not only more robust and durable, but also offers softer, less direct lighting, which improves visibility without causing glare.
This intervention not only enhances safety on the streets of Masquefa, but also adds aesthetic value to the surroundings, helping create more pleasant spaces for pedestrian traffic.
