

Citizen benches have been installed in the gardens of the Vittorio Square in Rome.

Citizen
UM301

The constant improvement and evolution of our products may result in some modifications of the technical specifications and characteristics of the products without prior notice.

The constant improvement and evolution of our products may result in some modifications of the technical specifications and characteristics of the products without prior notice.