In the city of Bucharest, Romania, the Kube bench/planter and Taulat tree guard have been installed in the urban center to improve the quality of public space. The Kube bench/planter, made of concrete, offers a comfortable seating area and includes a side space designed for planting flowers, helping to create a more sustainable, green, and pleasant environment for citizens.

Additionally, Taulat tree guards have been placed around the trees to protect the tree growth area and prevent people from stepping on the base, ensuring the health and optimal development of urban plant species. This installation enhances urban aesthetics and promotes respectful coexistence with nature in the city, reinforcing the commitment to sustainable, functional, and aesthetically pleasing public spaces for everyone.
