Need / Issue: The space did not encourage pedestrian use or stay, limiting its potential as a meeting point.

Solution: Pedestrianisation and incorporation of lighting, furniture, and spatial organisation elements.

Result: A more accessible, organised square focused on public use is created.

In Sallent de Gállego (Huesca), the town square has been renovated, transforming it into a space designed for people and everyday use. The intervention includes TOMSK light points in L and T configurations, ensuring efficient lighting integrated into the surroundings. The space is equipped with ARQ benches, with and without backrests, allowing different ways of use and stay. In addition, ARVELO bike racks have been installed, promoting sustainable mobility, and the space has been defined with bollards with flat bars, improving organisation and safety. The intervention is completed with OLEA planters, adding vegetation and reinforcing integration. The result is a more balanced space, where people can relax, meet, and enjoy the surroundings in a well-designed and accessible environment.
